Opis nemovitosti

We have this old stone house with a beautiful view of the sea, located on the south side of the island of Hvar.

It is located in a quiet area, at a distance of only 300 m from the sea, on the edge of a charming village.

This fishing village is a few kilometres from Jelsa, which is rich in the scents of lavender, olive trees and has crystal clear water and sandy beaches which make it an unmissable destination for many tourists.

The house consists of ground, first and second floors.

External stairs lead to the first floor where there are two bedrooms and a bathroom.

A wooden staircase connects the floors to each other and the first floor has two unused rooms.

The property also has two ruins and a large garden situated on a large land area of 1200 m2.

This is enough space to make improvements such as building a swimming pool.

In front of the main house is a summer bbq/kitchen, wine cellar and garden, and other features in the house include an old fireplace and dining room.

The property needs some renovation, but structurally, it appears in good condition.

The house has all the necessary infrastructure, but requires renovation.

It has car access and parking in front of the house.

The town centre where there are shops, a bakery and restaurants is a few minutes' walk.

The Ferry port Stari Grad is 20 km away.

To visit this property please contact our office to make an appointment.
