It is located on the island of Solta, in the very centre of the small Dalmatian village and only hundred meters from the sea. The house itself is 70m sq. over 2 levels, 35 sq.m. each with separate entrance. The ground floor is consist of one bedroom, kitchen with dinning room and a toilet. The first floor is another independent unit consist of one bedroom, kitchen lounge area and bathroom. There is a charming little terrace on the ground floor and a lovely balcony on the first floor.

There is access by car for unloading etc. but normal public parking is 100m away because of the narrow streets and lack of space. The property is completely renovated and it would make a superb holiday destination or second home.
